To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman

.Southboro, Mass.. The writer requests advice on the way in which the small Southboro Female Anti-Slavery Society, formed last September, can co-operate with the Boston Female Anti-Slavery Society. The Southboro society voted to become auxiliary to the Boston society, but fearing that there might be a split and not wishing to be connected with the new organization, they would like to know "what course those ladies are going to take who wish to remain on the Old Anti-Slavery platform."

[25 Aug.] To William Lloyd Garrison

«Pocotaligo, S.C.» W. F. H. is Secretary of the Committee of Vigilance of Prince William's Parish, S.C. The Committee will molest as much as possible all Abolitionist agents. This letter is a savage criticism of Human Rights. Compares the employment of children in factories with negro slavery. Thinks that Levi Woodbury, whom W. F. H. supposes to be the author of Human Rights, must be actuated by "some nefarious and hidden purpose." The South will "sever the union" to save its property. It will take the law into its own hands to prevent the Abolitionists from inciting the slaves to revolt. Hints that Abolitionist agents would be lynched in Mississippi. Mentions rew[illegible] for abduction of Abolitionist leaders.

To Mrs. Maria (Weston) Chapman No.66

[Hudson, N.Y.] The volume described to Garrison will be sent to S. H. Gay. The writer hopes it may command as much as fifty dollars on account of its age and rarity, but leaves the appraisal to the addressee. The writer is living in a "cold country" and notes "a strange reluctance at looking on this subject [of slavery]." The sisters of Charles Marriot "feel tenderest sympathies awakened for the Slave."

The terms and conditions upon which they are to serve is to be order by the General Court who are to provide that the children be religiously educated and taught to read English.
